Description

This tool is recommended for those who are responsible for leading online meetings. It will allow you to have a virtual whiteboard, ideal as a support for real-time collaboration between all the participants to whom you give access.

The aim is to enable the online moderation of a work meeting, a presentation, a course, etc.

Use

Once you have created a Padlet account, you will be able to post text, documents, web links, photos, videos, audio files, freehand drawings, etc.

A Padlet board can be shared with other people. You can give these people the right to add items or comment on items that are already there.

Note that with a free account, you can only create 3 padlets (but you can contribute to an unlimited number of padlets created by others). There are free alternatives, such as Trello or Framaboard.
