MOOC RESOLUTION

The online training MOOC RESOLUTION is an open source digital tool that trains social and professional advisors in innovative practices of outreach, positive mobilization, and counseling for people far from employment.

Description of the tool

This four-part MOOC looks at how to:

- Define groups far from employment and the national contexts
- Improve the identification of people who are far from the job market
- Better support and remove barriers to integration
- Meet the world of employment

The online training:

The entry point of this MOOC is defining people who are far from employment. Once you have completed the validation test for this part, you will have free access to the other three parts which you can work on according to your needs.

Use of the tool

In each part of the MOOC, you will find a set of interactive resources to discover new practices. These resources will be accompanied by reflective activities (MCQs, true/false, flashcards, ...) allowing you to self-evaluate. You can repeat these exercises as many times as you like. At the end of each part, you will have access to a validation test of your acquired knowledge. If you validate the 4 tests of this MOOC, you will receive a certificate recognizing all your acquired knowledge.
